Issue #1

January, 2005

Tenacity attempts to document and display quality freight graffiti of various types from various locales around the Pacific Northwest area. Occasionally the hard-working Tenacity photographers get a chance to cross state and country borders and see what's happening in other areas, as is the case with this issue.

There currently are two more issues being prepared, one focuses on reefer cars and the other on streaks and monikers. These should be ready for publishing soon.

Speaking of publishing, this zine is graciously published by the good people at S.S.O. press, a non-profit organization striving to bring good art to good people. You can check out what else they're up to by going to www.ssopress.com.
